RECOMMENDATION

Leandro is a very self taught and fast learning person and he has all that it takes to be an outstanding professional in the software engineering area:

1. He understands abstract concepts with an amazing ease;
2. He has sharp logical thinking;
3. He is a problem solver in general, not only in the computer science field;
4. He has the determination and the curiosity to learn and grow fast;
5. He has great soft skills and know how to deal with people, negotiate and teach.

I feel that his previous life and professional experiences in other areas forged this skills that are now fitting like gloves for a software engineer.

I just couldn't recommend someone better.
